GERMAN BATTLE CRUISERS BOMBARD LOWESTOFT, BUT BRITISH DRIVE THEM OFF

Squadron Shells English Coast Town, Killing Four Civilians.

THREE BRITISH VESSELS HIT

Are Disabled in Running Chase After Fleeing Raiders, Who Return to Home Port Without Losing a Ship; The Third Big Coastal Attack.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 25.—German battle cruisers appeared off Lowestoft today. Local naval forces engaged the raiders and also British light cruisers. The German warships retreated in 20 minutes.

The German warships opened fire on the coast before departing. Two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage apparently was small.

In the engagement two British light cruisers and a destroyer were hit, but none of them was sunk.

The following official announcement was made:

"About 4.30 o'clock this morning the German cruiser squadron, accompanied by light cruisers and destroyers, appeared off Lowestoft. The local naval forces engaged it and in about 20 minutes it returned to Germany, chased by our light cruisers and destroyers.

"On shore two men, one woman and a child were killed. The material damage seems to have been insignificant so far as is known at present. Two British light cruisers and a destroyer were hit, but none was sunk."

Lowestoft is on the North Sea coast, about 100 miles to the northeast of London. It is almost opposite The Hague.

On previous occasions attacks have been made on the English coast during the day time by German warships. The most important raid was made December 16, 1914. The towns of Scarborough, Whitby and Hartlepool, about 150 miles north of Lowestoft, were bombarded and about 130 persons were killed. Aided by fog the German vessels escaped.

On January 24, 1915, a further attempt of the kind was made, but the German squadron was met off Dogger Bank by the British battle cruiser squadron under Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty. On being sighted the Germans made for home at high speed. Their rear ship, the Blucecher, was sunk, and two other cruisers were set on fire and damaged severely. The British flagship Lion was disabled by a shot in one of her feed tanks and was towed home.

BOMBARD BELGIAN COAST.

LONDON, April 25.—An attack on German positions on the Belgian coast by British warships is reported in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. The bombardment is described as one of the heaviest in this region during the war.

The dispatch says the following message has been received in Amsterdam from Flushing:

"Several British warships accompanied by destroyers and other vessels yesterday bombarded Zeebrugge and the German batteries off Heyst, Blankenburghe and Knocke. The bombardment was one of the heaviest since the beginning of the war and also of the longest duration.

The damage done at Zeebrugge is said to have been enormous. The harbor and docks were hit several times and some ships were sunk.

"British air craft also threw bombs on German batteries."

PAYS THE COSTS

Woman Charged With Larceny of Bed Is Given Hearing.

When given a hearing before Alderman Eugene O'Donovan of the West Side yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny, Mrs. Etta Stillwagon paid the costs both for herself and W. L. Corbin, a colored teamster who was implicated in the case. The information was made by M. J. Tully of Trotter, who alleged that Mrs. Stillwagon had a bed belonging to him taken from the house of a tenant. Corbin was the teamster.

The bed had been left in payment by a former tenant and the man now occupying the house warned her against taking it, it was said. The bed was returned.

ANOTHER "JOHN RYAN" INQUIRY

Woman Thinks Man Who Committed Suicide Might be a Brother.

Another inquiry about the "John Ryan" who committed suicide at the Grant Hotel, Ill., on April 5, has reached Chief of Police B. Rottler. A woman speaking over the telephone last evening said she would call at the city hall today and see the picture that was sent here by the detective bureau of Chicago.

The woman who did not give the chief her name, said she thought it might be a brother. It was ascertained yesterday that the dead man is not the son of Mrs. L. Ryan.

Even With Gas Germans are Unable to Make Progress, Official Statement Claims.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 25.—Three successive attacks were made by the Germans last night on the new French positions in the region of Dead Man Hill on the Verdun front.

The war office announcement of this afternoon says the first two assaults failed completely and that the third attack, although assisted by the use of gas, also broke down. The Germans sustained heavy losses.

Six bombs were dropped on Dunkirk this morning. A woman was killed and three men wounded.

MARSEILLES, France, April 25.—Another contingent of Russian troops arrived here this morning.

STATE MILITIA TO MOBILIZE FOR DUTY AT WESTINGHOUSE

Tenth and Eighteenth Regiments Told to Get Ready for Service.

CAVALRY TROOP IS CALLED

Adjutant General Stewart Notifies Commanders of Western Pennsylvania Companies to Have Arms and Equipment Ready for Strike Duty.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, April 25.—That the Pennsylvania National Guard may be called to preserve order in the Westinghouse strike zone was indicated today when Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, directed the commanders of the Tenth and Eighteenth infantry regiments, and a troop of cavalry to prepare to mobilize.

The order was only for the commanders of the three organizations to prepare for a call which includes the notifying of officers and men and the examination of equipment.

The Eighteenth and the cavalry troop are Pittsburg organizations, but the Tenth is scattered in Westmoreland, Fayette and Washington counties. Only the governor can order out the guard.

Captain J. C. Herwick of Company D stated late this afternoon that he had received no instructions indicating that the local militiamen would likely be called out for service in the strike district.

PITTSBURG, April 25.—Efforts of pickets to prevent 2,000 or 3,000 workmen from entering the plant of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company where a strike is in progress this morning resulted in disorder, similar to that of yesterday. The deputy sheriffs and railroad officers on guard at the plant had been heavily reinforced during the night and when the pickets linked hands and charged the bridges leading to the entrances they were met by determined resistance. No one was seriously hurt.

Fred Merrick, former editor of a Socialist newspaper here and recognized as one of the strike leaders, was arrested on the Cable avenue bridge with another striker when it is alleged they refused to obey the orders of the deputies to move on. The men were brought to Pittsburg where they will be given a hearing later in the day.

Leaders of the men declare they have not abandoned the plan to bring out the employes of the other Westinghouse plants.

OBREGON TO EXPLAIN PLAN FOR POLICING OF MEXICO

If Satisfactory to General Scott, Request for Withdrawal of Troops May be Renewed.

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, April 25.—Assurance that the de facto government is prepared to cope with Villa bands in Northern Chihuahua are expected to be made by General Obregon, minister of war of the Carranza government, at his coming conference here with Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States Army.

General Obregon, it was learned here today, will reveal his plans for policing the northern Mexican country in detail with the hope that they will prove acceptable to General Scott. Should the plans be deemed adequate by General Scott the de facto government will again renew its request of the American government that its troops be withdrawn.

TROOPS AGAIN ACTIVE.

COLUMBUS, N. M., April 25.—Activities have been resumed by the American expeditionary command in Mexico according to reports reaching here today. The movements in the main, it was stated, have been only those necessary to keep the line of communications intact.

It was said also, however, that while most of General Pershing's advanced detachment have been drawn back to the main column, some of them are scouring the mountains north and west of Parral, particularly in an attempt to run down a clue that Villa is in hiding in the vicinity of Nonoava.

No Americans, it was pointed out, are operating in the territory beyond Parral.

ARREST I. W. W. WORKERS

Thirty-Six Nabbed for Inciting Riot Near Wilkes-Barre.

By Associated Press.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 25.—Following a riot today at the colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Boston settlement state troopers arrested 36 members of the Industrial Workers of the World. The prisoners were immediately sent to the county jail.

The riot occurred between the I. W. W. men and the United Mine Workers of America. Several shots were fired and clubs and stones filled the air. No one was seriously injured.

There has been much friction between the members of the I. W. W. and the U. M. W. for some time at several collieries in this vicinity.

This is the third riot within a week, the other two having taken place at the Butler colliery of the same company near Pittston last week.

REVOLT IS ON

War on Palmer-McCormick Democrats Hits Allegheny County.

The statewide fight in the Democratic party hit Allegheny county with a bang last night, when John M. Henry, a prominent figure in the present organization, formally announced his candidacy for chairman of the county committee against Joseph F. Guffey, the incumbent, and M. E. Williams, secretary of the Guffey "reorganization" county committee addressed a letter to the Democratic voters announcing his immediate resignation from his position.

Henry charges that the party is being controlled by a few bosses, who meet secretly and carry on party affairs without reference to the wishes of the Democratic voters. In announcing his resignation Mr. Williams merely indicates that he is not in sympathy with the methods of the Palmer-McCormick state leadership.

LINDEN HALL IS BEING PREPARED FOR BIG AFFAIR

Reception to Bishops This Evening Will be Gorgeous Event.

RELIGIOUS WORK NEARING END

By Tomorrow Virtually All of the Bishops Will Have Departed; Bishop McConnell Called to Washington for Conference With Wilson.

While the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church are wrestling with the problems which will confront the General Conference at Saratoga Spring, N. Y., next week, Linden Hall, the home of Mrs. Sarah B. Cochran, is a bustle in preparation for the reception to be given by Mrs. Cochran tonight in honor of the bishops. The reception will be one of the greatest religious-social affairs ever given in Fayette county. It is expected that upwards of 500 persons, leading figures in the religious world of Western Pennsylvania, will be at Linden Hall tonight. The affair will be characteristic of Mrs. Cochran, who has the reputation of doing things in only the best manner.

It became known today that the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church will attempt to modify the system of episcopal area supervision. Under the prevailing system Bishop Earl Cranston, for example, is resident bishop of Washington, D. C., and in the last four years has held jurisdiction over the Washington conference, the Pittsburg conference and several other adjacent conferences. This system limits a bishop to one group of conferences and destroys the system of general superintendency which has prevailed since the Methodist Episcopal Church began.

It is also probable that an attempt will be made to retain episcopal leadership over areas, but to have a general episcopal presidency over conferences. In other words the new proposal is to have the successor of Bishop Cranston retain his post as resident bishop of Washington, with supervision over adjacent conferences, but to have him preside at the annual session of the Washington conferences only once in four years. This would release him for service as presiding officer of Methodist conferences in other sections of the country for the remaining three years.

While no decision has been made regarding the creation of a new bishopric for the Pittsburg district, it is considered very likely that a resident bishop will be placed in the Smoky

MILLION DOLLAR EXTENSION OF WEST PEEN NEARLY COMPLETE

Big Work Will Have Been Finished in Two Weeks, Officials Say.

In about two weeks the million dollar improvements to the West Penn power plant at Fayette will be completed. The new unit which is to add to the supply of electric energy, now one of Connellsville's most advertised products, will be connected up with the rest of the generating machinery by that time, if no other delays are encountered.

The second of the three immense boilers was completed last Thursday and is now ready for use, though it is not generating steam at the present time. A few refinements are being made to the economizers, during the temporary idleness of the boiler. The first of the new boilers was "hooked up" on March 23 and has been working satisfactorily ever since. Work is progressing rapidly on the third and last boiler of the new unit.

The addition might have been ready for use at this time, or very shortly, but for a delay caused by the discovery of a defective casting. A pipe used in circulating the river water into the condensers, by means of which waste steam is converted back into water, to be used again in the boilers, was not satisfactory and another one had to be cast. This took time and, freight deliveries being so uncertain, the work of completing the addition was delayed considerably.

Superintendent L. E. Hankison ventured the prediction today that, barring any more delays, the improvements would be completed in two weeks more.

WILD LIFE LEAGUE

Big Meeting Tonight in the Armory; Many Will Attend.

The committee in charge of the Wild Life League's meeting, lunch and smoker in the armory tonight report the affair is assuming greater magnitude as the plans mature. A very large crowd of sportsmen is expected.

J. C. Munson, secretary of the league, has been exceptionally busy working out the details of the meetings, and reports are that many from out of town will be on hand. J. E. Sims and A. S. Silcox, who have the eats in charge, report something good in store. Kiferle's orchestra will furnish music.

C. A. Wagner of the Globe Theatre, has secured a three-reel feature film, "Captain Kearton's African Hunt," and several local hunting views. "Grizzly Bear" Smith, chief scout of the Allegheny Boy Scouts, Editor Sansom of "In the Open," and Mr. Phillips of Pittsburg will address the meeting. All the ministers of the city have been invited to be present and become interested in the work of game preservation. All sportsmen have been extended a cordial welcome.

TENTATIVE RATES ON MOVING REFUSE ARE DECIDED UPON

City Council Will Ask Bids Before Finally Passing Ordinance.

10 CENTS WEEK IS MINIMUM

Small Families Will Face Very Moderate Charge; Schedule Calls for Weekly Residential Collections; County Busy on Isabella Road.

City Council adopted tentative rates for the collection of garbage under the contract system, but deferred final passage of the garbage ordinance until further information is obtained. It may be some weeks before this measure is enacted into a law. Meanwhile bids on the collection of garbage will be asked and will be opened at the meeting on Monday night. M. B. Pryce was directed to draw up the specifications.

For private families consisting of five persons or less, it is proposed to charge 10 cents a week for removing garbage weekly. For families of from 6 to 9 persons the charge would be 75 cents monthly, and for more than 9, $1. This does not include the removal of ashes, nor do any of the rates named. Separate bids will be asked for the collection of ashes.

The charge for hotels will be $10 a month for those charging $2 a day or up and $6 a month for those whose charges are $1.50 a day. Boarding house charges range from $1 a month for those having five or less boarders, $1.25 for those having from 6 to 10, to $1.50 a month for those with more than 10. Restaurants of the first class will be charged $6 a month and those of the second class, $3 a month. There will be daily collections from restaurants and hotels, and probably just as frequent collections from boarding houses.

A charge of from $2 to $5 a month will be made for grocery stores, fruit stores, produce merchants, markets, butcher shops, etc. For cleaning vaults a charge of from $5 to $15 will be made.

That council does does not contemplate a change in the manner of making street assessments was indicated by Councilman John Duggan when James A. Veech urged a return to the method of having the city pay for one-third the paving. Under the present system the property owners foot the entire bill. Duggan charged Veech with making statements that the present council had promised a change from the method inaugurated by the previous council, and declared that this was without foundation. The discussion was rather pointed at times.

Councilman Duggan also reported that the county commissioners and their engineer would be in town on Wednesday for the purpose of considering some grade changes on Isabella road. It is proposed to remove the "roller-coaster" effect, Mr. Duggan explained. He did not indicate whether the proposed changes would further delay the improvement work which has been making no headway at all for several months.

A resolution was adopted to advertise the fact that the pamphlet statements of the city's accounts for the past fiscal year may be had on application to the city clerk.

Dr. C. W. Utts, representing the Board of Health, appeared in behalf of Clean-Up Day. He said plans of the board call for the expenditure of approximately $120, and that the city might be asked to help meet the expense. One team and six men are to go to work in each of the five health districts. A charge of 10 cents a barrel is to be made for removing rubbish, which will not include garbage, and it is hoped to collect sufficient money to pay for the teams and labor. Attention of council was also called to the vacancy in the Board of Health caused by the removal of C. Gould Hyatt from District No. 4. No action was taken to name a new member.

STANCHFIELD IS SECURED TO DEFEND J. V. THOMPSON

Noted Criminal Lawyer of New York Will Handle Banker's Trial

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, April 25.—John B. Stanchfield, of New York, the greatest criminal lawyer in the United States, will defend Josiah V. Thompson in the United States court when his case comes up for trial. The trial probably will be held next November, although no definite time was set yesterday when the case was continued.

Attorneys W. C. McKean and R. E. Umbel, representing Mr. Thompson, yesterday appeared before Judge C. P. Orr in the United States court in Pittsburg, and moved for the continuance of the case in which Mr. Thompson has been indicted in connection with the affairs of the First National Bank.

Mr. Thompson's attorneys stated that they were not prepared to go on with the trial of the case at this time, and Judge Orr stated to them that the government is not pressing to try the case at this time. The judge said that he realized the amount of work necessary for the preparation of the trial of the case.

Attorney McKean said today that Mr. Thompson had been devoting his time to assisting the Thompson Creditors' Committee with its work, and has neglected his own personal affairs in looking after the public interests, although he has been pressed by his attorneys to get busy on his own case.

The retaining of John B. Stanchfield as chief counsel for Mr. Thompson in the criminal proceedings is the most important matter so far announced in connection with the case of the government. It was Mr. Stanchfield who secured the freedom of Harry K. Thaw after some of the leading lawyers in the country had been working to secure his release from the Matteawan asylum for seven years.

WATER DAYS.

Greeks Douse Each Other With Buckets and Even Tubs.

Yesterday and today were "water" days among the Greek Catholics throughout the coke region. It is on these festive occasions that the men and women douse each other with buckets or even tubs of water, somewhat in the manner of the motion picture comedies.

On Monday it was the men's turn to duck the women and today the women had their chance to get even. A swimming pool isn't in it with water day when it comes to getting real wet.

ABSENT MINDED POSTMASTER HAS A BAD ROBBERY SCARE

Forgets Where He Put Money and Believed That Indian Creek Office Had Been Robbed.

Postmaster Miller of Indian Creek, had an awful scare yesterday afternoon when $60 he had been counting mysteriously disappeared. The police of Connellsville and vicinity were notified to detain three negroes who were suspected of the robbery but before the men reached here the postmaster found his money and the tremendous excitement had died down.

Mr. Miller was counting money on the counter of his store when the three negroes entered and bought something to eat. As they appeared the postmaster hastily stuffed the money into a pigeon hole in his desk. After waiting on the colored men he returned to the place on the counter where he supposed he had left the money. It was not there. The postmaster immediately concluded that he had been robbed. In vain he tried to secure some one to go down the tracks and apprehend the negroes who were eating what they had bought on a pile of ties some distance down the tracks. He notified the Connellsville police by telephone and telegraph to arrest the negroes, they in the meantime having disappeared in the direction of this city. A few minutes later Mr. Miller remembered that he had put the money in the pigeon hole. It had not been touched.

The postmaster at Indian Creek receives a salar, of $200 a year; consequently, a loss of $60 would have been no laughing matter.

TWELVE PERSONS KILLED IN DISTURBANCE IN DUBLIN

Rebels Secure Possession of Five Sections of the City.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 25.—Augustine Birrall, chief secretary for Ireland, announced in the House of Commons today that grave disturbances broke out in Dublin yesterday. He added that troops have been sent to the Irish capital and that the situation was now well in hand. He said that 12 persons had been killed before the disturbances were quelled.

Mr. Birrall declared that the rebels were in posses of four or five different parts of the city of Dublin. He also announced that four or five soldiers had been killed.

Mr. Birrall made this announcement in reply to a question by Commoner Craig immediately after the assembling of the House. He said that the postoffice had been forcibly taken possession of and that telegraphic communication had been cut.

In the course of the day, however, Mr. Birrall said, soldiers arrived from the Curragh and the situation was now well in hand, although as communication still was exceedingly difficult he was not able to give any further particulars, but the House, he continued, might take it from him that the situation was well in hand.

The chief secretary for Ireland, stated there had been arrests in Dublin but that he could not give the names. Speaking from the information he had received, he could say that 12 lives had been lost. Communication with Dublin, he said, still was very difficult.

At 7 o'clock last night Mr. Birrall said four or five different parts of Dublin were in the possession of the rebels, but he said they did not control the whole place.

FOREIGNER TRIES TO FORD RIVER TO AVOID POLICEMEN

Finds the Water Much Too Cold So He Surrenders and Posts a Forfeit.

When a foreigner attempted to swim the river to get away from the police last evening and found that the water was too cold, he surrendered to Assistant Chief W. B. Bowers, Patrolmen John Barnes and P. M. Rulli. The man had been fighting and was running to avoid arrest when he jumped into the river.

He and another foreigner began a scrap near the Western Maryland station on the West Side and both ran when the police approached. A railroad policeman fired a shot to halt one fellow, but it only served to make him more earnest in his endeavor to get away. He ran back of the carnival grounds and cut down through the West Side ball park. As the police still pursued him he ran right into the river, until he was up to his neck in water. Then he came out and was arrested. He left a $5 forfeit and did not appear for a hearing. His antagonist was not caught.

The fight occurred over a family matter. A place for the fight was decided on and while walking there one man hit the other and the quarrel was precipitated under the railroad viaduct.

Two other men left $5 forfeits for fighting on Water street. One man grabbed his friend's hat, which brought on words and a fistic encounter followed.

IF TOO FAT GET MORE FRESH AIR

Be Moderate in Your Diet and Reduce Your Weight; Take Oil of Korein.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from A. A. Clarke or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of Korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.—Adv.

City by the General Conference on recommendation by the ecclesiastic committee. There is some influence being wielded to have Bishop F. McDowell of Chicago, made resident bishop in Pittsburg. There are also many who are urging that the Pittsburg appointment be given to Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul, Minn. It apparently makes little difference, however, to the Methodists in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Eastern Ohio which bishop is given the appointment if the General Conference will see its way clear to name a bishop for Pittsburg.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Denver, leaves Linden Hall today for Washington, D. C., where he has been summoned to the White House by President Wilson. Bishop McConnell has been in Mexico a great deal during the present trouble there, and was handed his passports by an un-American bishop and escorted by him to the United States boundary a short time ago. Just what the mission of Bishop McConnell at the White House means was not given out here, and in fact very few of the bishops knew that Bishop McConnell was to go to Washington until this forenoon.

Bishops John W. Hamilton and Wilson S. Lewis will leave tonight for Saratoga Springs to begin the preliminary work for the General Conference to be opened next week. They will be followed by the other bishops tomorrow with few exceptions. Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco, will remain at Linden Hall until Thursday morning. He is to deliver a lecture tomorrow night at the Cochran Memorial Church on "The Biography of a Boy."

No attack of this kind was made while the police were there and they saw no one who admitted connection with the other affairs. No arrests were made, although prosecutions will follow if any more disturbances of the kind occur.

UNIONTOWN MAN PROJECTS A TILT AT METHODIST MEETING

Storm of Protest Follows Praise Accorded Heretics by Rev. Tinsley; Risk Attacks Speech.

Ministerial praise of heretical teachings precipitated a verbal battle on orthodoxy at the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal ministers in Pittsburg Monday. The trouble started when Rev. C. W. Tinsley of Uniontown read a paper expressing his belief that Christianity owes much of its progress to the theories of heretics.

Dr. Tinsley's words had hardly died away when Rev. J. B. Risk leaped to his feet and protested that some of Dr. Tinsley's remarks were personal reflections upon Dr. Risk's orthodoxy and that some of the quotations in the paper were taken from writings of Dr. Risk. The latter's words were openly laughed at. Rev. Risk was at one time pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

Rev. Dr. S. L. Mills, pastor of the California Avenue Church, condemned the doctrine which denies the virgin birth of Christ. Instantly there rose a murmur of disapproval. Rev. William A. Prosser, pastor of the United People's Church, came forth as champion of Dr. Tinsley's arguments and asserted that there are 30,000 or 40,000 persons in Pittsburg waiting for just such a Gospel.

As the arguments waxed warmer, Rev. George Orbin rushed to the organ and shouted a suggestion that "Faith of Our Fathers" be sung. Only a few of the ministers rose in obedience, but others leaped up with protests on their lips.

When order was restored, Rev. W. J. Law of the Buena Vista Street Church spoke in defense of the virgin birth. President W. H. Crawford of Allegheny College gained the floor and declared that much of his religious training had been received from the books of Thomas Newton Clarke, discussion of whose theories had started the battle.

In the end a vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Tinsley.

Mothers and Wives.

Of this country—those who after months and even years of suffering have been restored to health and strength by that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—are the ones who have spread the good news of health restored, until today there is hardly a town so small that the women who suffer from female ailments do not depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore health.—Adv.

STRONG FOR EAST PARK

School Directors Reach No Decision, But Gather Data.

In the construction of the proposed $170,000 high school, the school board as a whole will act as a building committee, with D. A. Ripley, head of the property committee, as chairman. This much was decided at recent conferences. The work of supervising the erection of the structure, an important duty, will fall on the shoulders of all seven directors.

No decision as to a site for the new school has yet been reached. A plan showing four of the proposed sites in the Fourth ward has been prepared. It shows the East Park addition location, two on Fairview avenue and one on East Main street.

Directors have discovered that it is only five minutes' walk from the present high school structure to the proposed site at the end of the East Park viaduct. No one ever kicked about the walk to the present high school, they say, so surely there should be no serious objection to going five minutes' farther.

It is said now that the East Park site could be secured for as low as $5,000.

As an indication of one of the many problems which are facing the School Board in its efforts to construct a new high school building is the statement made in Pittsburg that the board of education there will pay from $110,000 to $120,000 for the structural steel to go into the new Westinghouse high school at Homewood, against $50,000 to $60,000 had the material been purchased 18 months ago.

It is said that none of the mills will promise delivery under seven months. The new high school here will require a considerable amount of structural steel.

MANUFACTURING CENSUS

Connellsville Figures for 1914 Are Made Public by Bureau.

The preliminary report on the census of manufacturers in Connellsville, as compiled by the Bureau of the Census, estimates this city's population on July 1, 1914, as 15,000, the amount of capital invested in industries within the city limits as $3,246,000, the cost of materials used in 1914 as $189,000 and the value of products as $1,994,000.

A comparison of the figures of 1909 with those for 1914 shows an increase of from 39 to 42 establishments; a decrease from 1,269 to 1,246 in the number of persons engaged in manufactures; an increase from 28 to 32 in the number of proprietors and firm members; an increase from 1,035 to 1,087 in wage earners; a decrease from 206 to 127 in salaried employes; a decrease in capital invested from $3,275,000 to 3,246,000; a decrease in salaries from $194,000 to $129,000; an increase in wages from $576,000 to $689,000 and an increase in the value of products from $1,971,000 to $1,994,000.

WAITING ON MATERIAL.

Will Complete Bridge Steps as Soon as Steel Sheets Come.

The Connellsville Iron Works will complete the work on the steps leading from the north side of the Yough bridge as soon as the material arrives. The new sheet metal which is of a raised diamond pattern to make them "non-skidding" had to be ordered from a Philadelphia firm.

This was ordered three months ago, but as it is exceptionally hard to get just now the order has been delayed a long time. The frame of the steps has been put in readiness for the new material which can be put down without any preliminary work.

GIRLS! HAVE WAVY, THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save Your Hair! Double Its Beauty in a Few Moments—Try This.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and 10 minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Adv.

"I had a terrible case of stomach trouble and indigestion," he explained, "and although I had doctored several years I could not get any relief.

"It was a lucky day for me when I got this Tanlac, and I certainly do thank the fellow who recommended it to me. Tanlac is the only medicine that really ever helped me, and I had tried everything. Yes sir, everything. I am now like a new man and I advise any one who has stomach trouble or indigestion to use this medicine. It sure will cure them. Why engine trouble

Frankly, there may be steenteen factors contributing at one time or another to "engine trouble." But it's always a safe bet that the greatest offender in the whole militaristic mob is Poor Lubrication. There's one sure way to banish lubrication-troubles: Atlantic Motor Oils.

Here are oils that have done as much toward banishing engine-trouble via better lubrication as Atlantic Gasoline, the accepted standard, has toward increasing power, mileage and general car-happiness.

Atlantic Polarine is commander of the crew of four principal motor oils, being the correct lubricant for eight out of ten cars. In all alternative cases, Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium," or Atlantic "Heavy" is the one to use. Ask your garageman which.

In actual tests, it has been definitely demonstrated that a properly lubricated motor will yield as much as five additional miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Use the combination: Atlantic Gasoline for fuel, Atlantic Motor Oils for lubrication.

The oldest and largest manufacturers of lubricating oils in the world recommend this combination to you without reservation. They ought to know whereof they speak—and they DO.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

TUESDAY EVENING, APR. 25, 1916.

HIGH COST OF NEWSPAPERS.

With characteristic public spiritedness the newspapers have been giving so freely of their space in voicing the cries of distress over the High Cost of Living which have arisen from all quarters that they have had little opportunity to relate the story of their own woes.

Upon the broad shoulders of the newspaper publishers the burdens of the European war and Democratic Tariff reform have pressed more heavily than on many other individuals and industries whose complaints have been long and loud.

Since the outbreak of the war every item, article, material and thing entering into the collection of news, its publication in newspaper form and its distribution to the public has increased in price from 1 to 3,000%. The manufacture of explosives, munitions of war and clothing for the millions of soldiers in the field has virtually taken the domestic supply of rags and tall clips out of the market. This has resulted in advances for certain grades of paper from 50 to 500%.

Lead, tin, copper and antimony used in the manufacture of type, linotype and stereotype metals have advanced 100% or more. Antimony has become so scarce in the metal market of the world as almost to be classed among the rare metals, it being impossible to purchase it at this time only in small lots and at an advance of 450% over prices ruling two years ago.

Glue, glycerine and other articles used in making printing rolls are 18 to 25% higher. Gum arabic and certain chemicals used in a newspaper plant cost, are 1,000 to 3,000% more than before the war began. The scarcity of dye stuffs causes colored inks to command fancy prices while the enormous demand by powder makers for lampblack and other carbons necessary in making news ink has practically stripped the market of these substances.

With a feverish daily fluctuation in prices for all classes of materials and supplies, always tending to higher levels, and confronted with the uncertainty of securing stocks at any price, the newspaper publisher is face to face with a condition which a safe rule of business would demand be remedied by making the prices meet the cost.

A realization of the situation has prompted the publishers associations of the country generally to give consideration to an increase in the price of daily newspapers from one to two cents per copy. The question will have the consideration of Pennsylvania publishers at their meeting in Philadelphia this week and will doubtless come up for discussion at the meetings of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers Association held in New York during the same period.

There is reason to think that the public is prepared to pay two cents for its daily newspaper. The morning papers have been held at that price for some time. The only thing the publishers have to do is to agree among themselves.

Strange as it may seem that's just where the trouble will come in.

SOUTH SIDE IMPROVEMENTS.

During bad weather portions of the South Side are impassable. Some improvements should be made there this summer with or without the consent of the people. The east end of Cedar avenue and the length of Washington avenue should be paved to Isabella Road with the completion of that improvement, and Davidson avenue and Chestnut street should perhaps receive attention. They are short streets, but in bad weather they are hard to travel by foot or vehicle. Race street should also receive consideration from time to time. The street railway company pays part of the cost of paving this street.

President Wilson's rather preemptory demand that the German government cease its submarine warfare on British shipping and return to the rules of naval fighting as practised when nations had no undersea boats is followed by a demand from General Carranza that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexican soil and insisting upon a prompt reply. The peremptory spirit seems to be spreading on the American Continent.

Musical comedies are made in New York and Mount Pleasant.

Scottdale claims the false teeth found in Connellsville. Seems to us that the Mill Town is getting its teeth into everything around here.

In a communication to the stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, President Daniel Willard opposes the demands of the trainmen. Don't could hardly be expected to concede these demands without a struggle. He represents the employing interest.

Bishop Berry says he was misquoted about evangelism, but he does not take anything back.

The Connellsville churches gathered flowers and garnered showers on Easter, and the harvest was abundant.

Bishop Neely does not believe in too much feminism in the churches. He fears that if women run the churches the men won't go.

Spring is shy and summer seems remote.

A. B. & O. locomotive gave another exhibition of cunning without the rails. Perhaps the 1917 model will be so well trained that the railroads won't care a whoop what the price of steel rails is.

The fake cripple who was locked up for personating a lame man is no worse than the lame men who solicit alms when they do not need them. The whole business of street begging should be suppressed. If any unfortunate creatures come to Connellsville who deserve assistance their cases should be taken in hand by our Charity Clearing House, otherwise known as the Salvation Army.

CALVARY IN THE MAKING.

Johnstown Tribune.

April brings us an Easter with the Christ still upon the cross. To those turned to catch whose souls are the whisperings of eternity there may come echoes of the heavenly Chorus that sings of a Risen Lord. To those who, with an eye fixed on passing events, view the world as it is spread before us today, Calvary is in the making. Crucified humanity, humanity with pierced side, with brows upon which the Crown of Thorns digs deep, swings upon its cross. Nor does it swing alone. By the side of the sons of men, silhouetted against the back-ground of the never ending years, there looms the figure of the Man of Calvary. He, too, is crucified and today must drink anew the cup of bitter gall that is pressed always to the lips of those who suffer in order that men may be free, and suffer only to find the chains riveted to the limbs of those they endured the great agony to save.

One wonders if the battling hosts were granted the gift of vision and through the haze of smoke were to catch a fleeting glimpse of the tragedy they were enacting whether there would be peace tomorrow.

And yet here is the mystery that is presented by Easter morn. Though the Christ is crucified yet those who seek Him at the tomb will find He is risen. There is an Easter morn for those who seek deliverance. Humanity can step from Calvary to the Tomb if it will. It can pause and wash its bloody hands.

Easter comes to those who are at peace. It comes to those who have turned from the path of crucifying Christ in the form of humanity to the task of following the Risen One. And what is true for those who suffer in Europe is likewise true in the case of every individual throughout the world. No man can range himself with those gathered at the foot of the cross and stand beside the empty tomb at the same time.

The Dunbar Township School Board came across promptly with a new school building at Monarch. Jimmie Darr and his state inspectors pull school houses down while you wait.

Connellsville voters should be sure to register tomorrow if they are not already enrolled for the primary.

Nothing but a President Himself.

Uniontown Standard.

Is there anything more contemptible than this thing of an ex-President of the United States, whose candidacy for the third term was defeated four years ago, using the possibility of war as a stepping stone to office?

Shakespeare

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

About this date of April William Shakespeare was born in a fine old timbered house in Stratford-on-Avon, England. This fact alone has raised the value of the house a hundred fold, but its owner of that time did not discover it until it was everlastingly too late—for him.

Shakespeare was an ordinary boy and was not thought much of in Stratford, because he wore his hair short and wasted his time in learning to read and in poaching and on Anne Hathaway. No crepe was hung on the city hall when he left Stratford, and went to London, and even after he became famous and was allowed to bow to some ninth-rate duchess, the home people used to say: "What, Will Shakespeare famous! Nonsense! I remember when Sir Thomas had him whipped for deer stalking."

But Shakespeare persisted in writing plays, and as he was his own manager, he got them all acted and became rich, retiring afterward to Stratford and dying with much pomp and ceremony, so that he was buried in the village church itself, instead of being put on the waiting list among the pikers in the tombs outside.

After he died, Shakespeare became constantly more noted and people began to say that it was a pity there were not writers like Shakespeare in these degenerate days. They have been saying so ever since. He has now been dead over 300 years, but the best thing said of any playwright is the fact that his stuff sounds like Shakespeare. And usually he has to say it himself.

Shakespeare borrowed most of his plots from the Italians, who were great story-tellers, if you weren't too fastidious about the stories. He re-wrote them in drama, in which all the characters speak in beautiful, stately blank verses, saying an average of one deep, eternal philosophic truth per line. He wrote comedies and tragedies and sonnets and poetry, though most of the latter had to be kept on ice. His tragedies are best known, because of the sonorous and intellectual manner in which the characters die singly and in windrows.

If Shakespeare lived today he would have waited four years to have his first comedy read and accepted—after which it would have been re-written by the stage carpenter and the leading lady and put on with interpolated songs and a costume chorus with a play doctor in the rear of the theatre keeping track of the laughs with a hand comptometer. Then he would have written nine plays the next year, after which he would have spent the rest of his life getting into trouble for speeding in various ways. Let us be thankful that Shakespeare lived when he did.

Healthy Old Age Brings Happiness

Simple Remedy Promotes Health by Overcoming Tendency to Constipation.

Advancing years impair the action of the vital organs. Old age should be the period of greatest happiness, but good health is necessary. Constipation should not be tolerated—it is often the direct cause of ill health.

Headache, belching, biliousness, bloat, drowsiness after eating and other symptoms of constipation can be readily relieved by the use of a simple laxative compound sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. J. H. Bristol, 1412 Geddes Avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich., who is 83 years old says "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy I ever used for constipation and I always have a bottle of it in the house to use when I feel the need of it: it never disappoints."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative preparation, positive in its effect, acting easily and naturally without griping or other pain or discomfort. For over a quarter of a century it has been the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle. A trial bottle of Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 151 Washington street, Monticello, Illinois.

In short: it was a golden year. And then it happened. It was in the early morning, and we were surprised in our caves. In the chill gray light we awoke from sleep, most of us, to encounter death. The Swift One and I were aroused by a pandemonium of screeching and gibbering. Our cave was the highest of all on the cliff, and we crept to the mouth and peered down. The open space was filled with the Fire People. Their cries and yells were added to the clamor, but they had order and plan, while we folk had none. Each one of us fought and acted for himself, and no one of us knew the extent of the calamity that was befalling us.

By the time we got to stone throwing the Fire People had massed thick at the base of the cliff. Our first volley must have crushed some heads, for when they swerved back from the cliff three of their number were left upon the ground. These were struggling and floundering, and one was trying to crawl away. But we fixed them. By this time we males were roaring with rage, and we rained rocks upon the three men that were down. Several of the fire men scrambled to drag them into safety, but our rocks drove the rescuers back.

The Fire People became enraged. Also they became cautious. In spite of their angry yells they kept at a distance and sent flights of arrows against us. This put an end to the rock throwing. By the time half a dozen of us had been killed and a score injured the rest of us retreated inside our caves. I was not out of range in my lofty cave, but the distance was great enough to spoil effective shooting, and the Fire People did not waste many arrows on me. Furthermore, I was curious. I wanted to see. While the Swift One remained well inside the cave, trembling with fear and making low wailing sounds because I would not come in, I crouched at the entrance and watched.

The fighting had now become intermittent. It was a sort of deadlock. We were in the caves, and the question with the Fire People was how to get us out. They did not dare come in after us, and in general we would not expose ourselves to their arrows. Occasionally, when one of them drew in close to the base of the cliff, one or another of the folk would smash a rock down. In return he would be transfixed by half a dozen arrows. This ruse worked well for some time, but finally the folk no longer were inveigled into showing themselves. The deadlock was complete.

Behind the Fire People I could see the little wizened old hunter directing it all. They obeyed him and went here and there at his commands. Some of them went into the forest and returned with loads of dry wood, leaves and grass. All the Fire People drew in closer. While most of them stood by with bows and arrows, ready to shoot any of the folk that exposed themselves, several of the fire men heaped the dry grass and wood at the mouths of the lower tier of caves. Out of these heaps they conjured the monster we feared—fire! At first wisps of smoke arose and curled up the cliff. Then I could see the red tongued flames darting in and out through the wood like tiny snakes. The smoke grew thicker and thicker, at times shrouding the whole face of the cliff. But I was high up, and it did not bother me much, though it stung my eyes, and I rubbed them with my knuckles.

Old Marrow Bone was the first to be smoked out. A light fan of air drifted the smoke away at the time so that I saw clearly. He broke out through the smoke, stepping on a burning coal and screaming with the sudden hurt of it, and essayed to climb up the cliff. The arrows showered about him. He came to a pause on a ledge, clutching a knob of rock for support, gasping and sneezing and shaking his head. He swayed back and forth. The feathered ends of a dozen arrows were sticking out of him. He was an old man, and he did not want to die. He swayed wider and wider, his knees giving under him, and as he swayed he wailed most plaintively. His hand released its grip, and he lurched outward to the fall. His old bones must have been sadly broken. He groaned and strove feebly to rise, but a fire man rushed in upon him and brained him with a club.

And as it happened with Marrow Bone so it happened with many of the folk. Unable to endure the smoke suffocation, they rushed out to fall beneath the arrows. Some of the women and children remained in the caves to strangle to death, but the majority met death outside.

When the fire men had in this fashion cleared the first tier of caves they began making arrangements to duplicate the operation on the second tier of caves. It was while they were climbing up with their grass and wood that Red Eye, followed by his wife, with the baby holding to her tightly, made a successful flight up the cliff. The fire men must have concluded that in the interval between the smoking out operations we would remain in our caves, so that they were unprepared, and their arrows did not begin to fly till Red Eye and his wife were well up the wall. When he reached the top he turned about and glared down at them, roaring and beating his chest. They arched their arrows at him, and, though he was untouched, he fled on.

I watched a third tier smoked out and a fourth. A few of the folk escaped up the cliff, but most of them were shot off the face of it as they strove to climb. I remember Long Lip. He got as far as my ledge, crying piteously, an arrow clear through his chest, the feathered shaft sticking out behind, the bone head sticking out before, shot through the back as he climbed. He sank down on my ledge, bleeding profusely at the mouth.

It was about this time that the supply of fire men seemed to empty themselves spontaneously. Nearly all the folk not yet smoked out stampeded up the cliff at the same time. This was the saving of many. The Fire People could not shoot arrows fast enough. They filled the air with arrows and scores of the stricken folk came tumbling down, but still there were a few who reached the top and got away.

The impulse of flight was now stronger in me than curiosity. The arrows had ceased flying. The last of the folk seemed gone, though there may have been a few still hiding in the upper caves. The Swift One and I started to make a scramble for the clifftop. At sight of us a great cry went up from the Fire People. This was not caused by me, but by the Swift One. They were chattering excitedly and pointing her out to one another. They did not try to shoot her. Not an arrow was discharged. They began calling softly and coaxingly. I stopped and looked down. She was afraid and whimpered and urged me on. So we went up over the top and plunged into the trees.

This event has often caused me to wonder and speculate. If she were really of their kind she must have been lost from them at a time when she was too young to remember, else would she not have been afraid of them. On the other hand, it may well have been that, while she was their kind, she had never been lost from them; that she had been born in the wild forest far from their haunts, her father maybe a renegade fire man, her mother maybe one of my own kind, one of the folk. But who shall say? These things are beyond me, and the Swift One knew no more about them than did I.

We lived through a day of terror. Most of the survivors fled toward the blueberry swamp and took refuge in the forest in that neighborhood. And all day hunting parties of the Fire People ranged the forest, killing us wherever they found us. It must have been a deliberately executed plan. Increasing beyond the limits of their own territory, they had decided on making a conquest of ours. Sorry the conquest. We had no chance against them. It was slaughter, indiscriminate slaughter, for they spared none, killing old and young, effectively ridding the land of our presence.

It was like the end of the world to us. We fled to the trees as a last refuge, only to be surrounded and killed, family by family. We saw much of this during that day, and, besides, I wanted to see. The Swift One and I never remained long in one tree, and so escaped being surrounded. But there seemed no place to go. The fire men were everywhere, bent on their task of extermination. Every way we turned we encountered them, and because of this we saw much of their handiwork.

I did not see what became of my mother, but I did see the Chatterer shot down out of the old home tree. And I am afraid that at the sight I did a bit of joyous teetering. Before I leave this portion of my narrative I must tell of Red Eye. He was caught with his wife in a tree down by the blueberry swamp. The Swift One and I stopped long enough in our flight to see. The fire men were too intent upon their work to notice us, and, furthermore, we were well screened by the thicket in which we crouched.

Fully a score of the hunters were under the tree discharging arrows into it. They always picked up their arrows when they fell back to earth. I could not see Red Eye, but I could hear him howling from somewhere in the tree.

After a short interval his howling grew muffled. He must have crawled into a hollow in the trunk. But his wife did not win this shelter. An arrow brought her to the ground. She was severely hurt, for she made no effort to get away. She crouched in a sheltering way over her baby, which clung tightly to her, and made pleading signs and sounds to the fire men. They gathered about her and laughed at her, even as Lop Ear and I had laughed at the old tree man. And even as we had poked him with twigs and sticks so did the fire men with Red Eye's wife. They poked her with the ends of their bows and prodded her in the ribs. But she was poor fun. She would not fight, nor, for that matter, would she get angry. She continued to crouch over her baby and to plead. One of the fire men stepped close to her. In his hand was a club. She saw and understood, but she made only the pleading sounds until the blow fell.

Red Eye, in the hollow of the trunk, was safe from their arrows. They stood together and debated for awhile, then one of them climbed into the tree. What happened up there I could not tell, but I heard him yell and saw the excitement of those that remained beneath. After several minutes his body crashed down to the ground. He did not move. They looked at him and raised his head, but it fell back limply when they let go. Red Eye had accounted for himself.

CHAPTER XIV.

THEY were very angry. There was an opening into the trunk close to the ground. They gathered wood and grass and built a fire. The Swift One and I, our arms around each other, waited and watched in the thicket. Sometimes they threw upon the fire green branches with many leaves, whereupon the smoke became very thick.

We saw them suddenly swerve back from the tree. They were not quick enough. Red Eye's flying body landed in the midst of them. He was in a frightful rage, smashing about with his long arms right and left. He pulled the face off one of them, literally pulled it off with those gnarly fingers of his and those tremendous muscles. He bit another through the neck. The fire men fell back with wild, fierce yells, then rushed upon him. He mauled to get hold of a club and began crushing heads like eggshells. He was too much for them, and they were compelled to fall back again. This was his chance, and he turned his back upon them and ran for it, still howling wrathfully. A few arrows sped after him, but he plunged into a thicket and was gone.

The Swift One and I crept quietly away, only to run foul of another party of fire men. They chased us into the blueberry swamp, but we knew the tree paths across the farther morasses, where they could not follow on the ground, and so we escaped. We came out on the other side into a narrow strip of forest that separated the blueberry swamp from the great swamp that extended westward. Here we met Lop Ear. How he had escaped I cannot imagine, unless he had not slept the preceding night at the caves.

Here, in the strip of forest, we might have built tree shelters and settled down, but the Fire People were performing their work of extermination thoroughly. In the afternoon Hair Face and his wife fled out from among the trees to the east, passed us and were gone. They fled silently and swiftly, with alarm in their faces. In the direction from which they had come we heard the cries and yells of the hunters and the screeching of some one of the folk. The Fire People had found their way across the swamp.

The Swift One, Lop Ear and I followed on the heels of Hair Face and his wife. When we came to the edge of the great swamp we stopped. We did not know its paths. It was outside our territory, and it had been always avoided by the folk. None had ever gone into it—at least to return. In our minds it represented mystery and fear, the terrible unknown. As I say, we stopped at the edge of it. We were afraid. The cries of the fire men were drawing nearer. We looked at one another. Hair Face ran out on the quaking morass and gained the firmer footing of a grass hummock a dozen yards away. His wife did not follow. She tried to, but shrank back from the treacherous surface and cowered down.

The Swift One did not wait for me, nor did she pause till she had passed beyond Hair Face a hundred yards and gained a much larger hummock. By the time Lop Ear and I had caught up with her the fire men appeared among the trees. Hair Face's wife, driven by them into panic terror, dashed after us. But she ran blindly, without caution, and broke through the crust. We turned and watched and saw them shoot her with arrows as she sank down in the mud. The arrows began falling about us. Hair Face had now joined us, and the four of us plunged on, we know not whither, deeper and deeper into the swamp.

Of our wanderings in the great swamp I have no clear knowledge. When I strive to remember I have a riot of unrelated impressions and a loss of time value. I have no idea of how long we were in that vast everglade, but it must have been for weeks. My memories of what occurred invariably take the form of nightmare. For untold ages, oppressed by protean fear, I am aware of wandering, endlessly wandering, through dank and soggy wilderness, where poisonous snakes struck at us and animals roared around us, and the mud quaked under us and sucked at our heels.

I know that we were turned from our course countless times by streams and lakes and slimy seas. Then there were storms and risings of the water over great areas of the low lying lands, and there were periods of hunger and misery when we were kept prisoners in the trees for days and days by these transient floods.

Gums shrinking? Danger ahead!

Go now to a mirror and examine your mouth? Do your gums look "rinsed out," shrunken? Do you see a jagged appearance in the gum-line?

If so, see your dentist. He will tell you that you have pyorrhea, and that to save your teeth you will have to fight this dread disease at once.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Contest News for Courier Readers

POSITIVELY THE BIGGEST VOTE OFFER AND IT CLOSES AT MIDNIGHT MAY 1

Club of Thirty Offer in Courier's Great Voting Contest is Drawing Rapidly to a Close; Next Monday Night Marks the Close of the Biggest and Best Offer.

Note—Subscriptions collected by contestants up to midnight Monday, May 1, will count of the Club of Thirty Offer, provided the letters in which they are received are postmarked before that hour. In places where the postoffices do not remain open until midnight candidates may phone or wire the amount they have collected in subscriptions since their last remittance and the phone or telegraphic message will be counted on the offer if they are verified by subscriptions received on the first possible mail.

"I have secured a club of subscriptions, but I am not going to turn them in during this period. I think there will probably be a bigger offer later." Such was the statement by a candidate in The Courier's Prize Contest to a representative of the paper yesterday.

Absolutely wrong. Positively nothing doing on a bigger offer of extra votes after the present one of 600,000 extra votes for every $30 worth of new subscriptions, and 300,000 extra votes for every $30 worth of old subscriptions. This fact has been stated several times in the columns of The Courier. The full schedule of extra votes covering the entire contest was announced at the same time the present offer was announced. The next best offer after the present one closes at midnight, May 1, will be 300,000 extra votes for every $25 in new subscriptions, and 150,000 extra votes for every $25 worth of old subscriptions.

The present offer of extra votes is positively the largest offer that will be made. Those who think they know more about it than the contest management, and hold their subscriptions until after May 1 waiting for a bigger offer will find a disappointment in store for them. They will be the loser and it will be their own fault.

Contestants who understand this matter and realize that right now is the greatest opportunity time of the whole contest are straining every nerve to get every possible subscription vote before the Club of Thirty period comes to a close at midnight, Monday, May 1.

This opportunity will not come again. Subscriptions that are secured now and turned into this office or placed in the mails before the closing hour of the Club of Thirty offer will count a great deal more for votes than they will again during the contest.

The contestants who take advantage of this great vote-getting period stand the best chance of winning the top prizes. This statement is made as a result of an experience covering a number of similarly managed campaigns. It is a fact that the contestant who really stands high at the close of the Club of Thirty offer generally holds his place to the close and carries away the Capital Prize. It is a fact that those who hold their subscriptions waiting for a larger offer, or neglect to realize on the support of their friends at this time, are never counted among the top winners.

It is not necessary to hold subscriptions until you have even clubs of $30. All amounts turned in by contestants from the beginning of the contest up to and including May 1 will be totaled and extra votes issued on every $30 worth of subscriptions. Any amounts over and above even clubs will be carried over to the next best offer. Get the subscriptions; the clubs will take care of themselves. Get them now before midnight, Monday, May 1. After that date the large number of votes now offered will not be given.

At the Theatres

SOISSON THEATRE.

"A SOUL ENSLAVED."—The greatest photoplay ever written, "A Soul Enslaved," an emotional drama in five acts with Cleo Madison in the leading role will appear under the Broadway Universal Feature banner at the Soisson Theatre today. The story is by Adele Farrington, and was scenarioized by Olga Printzlau and produced by Cleo Madison. No such gripping theme has ever before been used in the silent drama. Moving picture fans are promised the dramatic treat of their lives on the occasion of the local presentation of this remarkable drama. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are the stars in the Bison two reel drama, "Behind the Mask." It is a thrilling play in Balkan settings of unusual magnificence. "His Highness, the Janitor," is a Joker comedy with Gale Henry and William Franey in the cast. It is a screaming farce telling of a bogus baron. "How Times Do Change" is a bang-up Nestor comedy with Lee Moran, Ray Gallagher and Billie Rhodes in the leads. Tomorrow the celebrated Blue Bird feature, "The Strength of the Weak," with the talented actress, Mary Fuller, will be presented. It is an intense moral problem play.

THE GLOBE.

"PUDD'NHEAD WILSON." — Presenting Theodore Roberts, is featured today at the Globe. In producing Mark Twain's famous work, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company presents the first of a series of picturizations of the noted humorist's novels. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" will be followed by "Tom Sawyer," Huckleberry Finn," and others. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" occupies a unique place in the annals of American humorous literature. Its story, said to have been the first piece of fiction which made use of the now familiar finger print method as a means of establishing identity, is melodramatic, romantic and suffused with a deep note of human interest. "Pudd'nhead Wilson," the Southern lawyer from whom the book takes its title, is a character in American literature, and his crisp sayings will live forever. No actor of the stage or screen is so well suited to the role of this production than Theodore Roberts, America's leading screen character star. Mr. Roberts brings out the subtle humor of Wilson, who swayed a whole community by his personality during an exciting trial, finally establishing the innocence of a youth unjustly accused. There is a gripping love story through the photoplay. Mr. Roberts is ably supported by Florence Dagmar, Alan Hale and Thomas Meighan. Friday, Fanny Ward will be seen in "Tennessee's Pardner," a five reel production.

THE ARCADE.

"PEGGY."—Billie Burke, one of the best known stars of the legitimate stage, makes her initial bow in the movies in "Peggy," which appears this afternoon and tonight at the Arcade. It is an eight-reel feature, an unusually long photoplay, but the strength of the star led the Triangle producers to go the limit in providing an ample vehicle for introducing Miss Burke to screen fans. Miss Burke won her place as a star largely as a result of her good looks, and it is said she is particularly good as a screen actress.

ION-O-LEX

Stop the Cough, Prevent Pneumonia.

The time to cure Pneumonia is before it becomes Pneumonia. One of the most dangerous things in the world is a neglected cold or cough.

Now, coughs and colds are inflammatory in their nature. Unless prompt action is taken, the inflammation spreads and before we know it serious consequences result.

With the very first appearance of a cough or cold Ion-o-lex should be used. The throat or nostrils should be sprayed with Ion-o-lex liquid. Ion-o-lex Unguent should be applied around the neck—or on the chest.

This will stop the inflammation and the disease will disappear.

Ion-o-lex is a truly remarkable English discovery. It is not a drug—contains no narcotics or opiates—cannot harm even an infant.

Ion-o-lex is used in England exclusively by physicians. It is prescribed by the most prominent physicians in the country.

It is extensively used in the English Military Hospitals where it is saving hundreds of lives by preventing inflammation in wounds, and by stopping inflammation in cases of pneumonia, bronchitis, tonsilitis and other similar diseases.

Here in America it is for sale through the drug stores and is accomplishing truly remarkable results.

Wherever there is inflammation, there is need of Ion-o-lex. In throat and lung diseases, in acute rheumatism, in neuritis in appendicitis—in burns and scalds—in wounds. Anywhere there is inflammation, Ion-o-lex should be used.

It is sold on a guaranteed basis—your money back if it doesn't stop the inflammation—by all leading druggists.—Adv.

Enjoy life! Your system is filled with an accumulation of bile and bowel poison which keeps you bilious, headachy, dizzy, tongue coated, breath bad and stomach sour—Why don't you get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and feel bully. Take Cascarets tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling it. BEWITCHING HAIR FOR EVERY WOMAN

Hair That Radiates Healthfulness Always Compels Admiration.

Don't neglect your hair, girls; you'll be sorry later on if you do. Never mind about the things you have tried; never mind about what people say.

Just remember this Parisian Sage will make harsh, thin or faded hair soft, glossy and luxuriant. It quickly rids the scalp of dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and imparts that refreshing, comfortable feeling or money returned.

It's a delicately perfumed liquid free from oiliness and as one woman remarked, "Parisian Sage puts the radiance of sunshine into my dull looking hair and makes it beautiful and lustrous." A. A. Clarke sells lots of it and always guarantees it.—Adv.

FEDERAL STARS STAND HIGH AS HEFTY SLUGGERS

Konetchy and Chase are Among the Leaders in the National.

NOT SHINING IN THE AMERICAN

Lee Magee is Best of the Outlaws Now With Ban Johnson's Bunch, and .286 is His Record to Date: Baker Has Not Lost His Batting Eye.

NEW YORK, April 25.—While the big league players have hardly got into their stride for the long pennant races, the batting averages for the initial week of the schedules show that the heavy hitters of the Federal League have in a number of cases been able to hammer out a place for themselves among the 300 batters In the National League, Hal Chase in his few games with Cincinnati has been hitting at a .455 clip as against his .231 in the Federal League last year Konetchy, of Boston is given 100 after batting .310 for the entire season of 1915. Rariden of New York hit for .273 as a Federal but since donning a Giants' uniform he has climbed to .333 Benny Kauff the star of the Federals last year with .341 is tied with Rariden at .333

The Federal League representation in the American League is considerably less than that in the National and the heavy hitters of the junior league have crowded out of the .300 or better class all of the Independent league players of 1915 Lee Magee, former manager of the Brooklyns who batted .330 a year ago, is the nearest approach to the select class At the end of the initial week of play for the New York Americans, Magee was credited with .286

"Home Run" Baker, who came to the same club from the Philadelphia Athletics after a year's lay-off due to his dispute over salary with Connie Mack, showed that he has not lost his batting eye by hitting for .385 as against .319 in the American League for the season of 1914 Joe Gedeon who came to the New York Americans via the Federals without having actually played with the latter organization also demonstrated his ability to hit the ball hard and safe His batting average while a member of the Salt Lake Club of the Pacific Coast League in 1915 was .317 During his first week with the Yankees he landed on the ball at a .400 clip

The demand for professional tennis instructors continues to increase with each succeeding season and there is every indication that the supply will prove entirely inadequate during the coming summer Every English coach who is in this country at the present time, is tied up with some prominent club by a contract which is satisfactory to both contracting parties A large number of the smaller clubs, as well as the leading colleges and preparatory schools are searching in vain for men who have skill and ability to teach the technique and strategy of tennis

There are many American players who are fitted to take these positions, which pay good salaries but they do not care to lose their amateur status and cannot afford to give the time necessary to successful coaching without reimbursement. As a result the National Association and the clubs desiring a regular coach are confronted by a problem which does not promise to be easily solved

What is claimed to be a record amount distributed in racing purses was awarded during the past Australian racing season when more than $3,275,000 was awarded the winning turfmen This amount includes the sums distributed for flat and jumping races at meets both registered and unregistered
